All outside watering restrictions for North Battleford now lifted

As of today, Friday, September 2, all watering restrictions can now be lifted.

However, residents are asked to use water in moderation and to adhere to the Odd-Even Watering Schedule until the end of September: Residents and businesses whose house numbers end in an even number may water their yards on even-numbered days. Likewise, residents and businesses whose house numbers end in an odd number may water on odd-numbered days.

The City of North Battleford thanks all residents and businesses for conserving water for almost 1.5 months. Your contribution and cooperation was crucial to the success in ensuring there was enough water during this trying time.
